

Preface to the MacPherson special issues

The Editors are pleased to dedicate these volumes to Robert MacPherson, on the occasion of his sixtieth birthday. The articles, composed with gratitude and admiration by his friends, colleagues and students, reflect the enormous range and depth of MacPherson's influence on Mathematics, his lifelong passion for geometry, and his commitment to young mathematicians.

William Fulton, Mark Goresky and Lizhen Ji